Campus Threat Assessment & Management Instrument

This instrument is designed to assist in screening, investigating, and documenting potential situations of targeted violence.

Remember that the assessment is of the situation a person is in, not the person. These situations are dynamic in nature and should be constantly updated

If imminent danger exists, call law enforcement

- Examine safety concerns and threatening situations using the questions as an investigative guide.
- Complete the instrument through a multi-disciplinary approach by a team representing various areas across the institution. Generally, this team is comprised of the following members: director of public safety, dean of student services, counselor or mental health professional and legal and human resources representative.
- Other assessment instruments (i.e. domestic violence, workplace violence, suicide risk, etc.) may be used in conjunction with this instrument.
- The team might also include representatives from partnering agencies such as law enforcement and mental health.
- The team should consider all available sources for information including: instructors, students, staff, community members, and social media.

STEP 1: SCREENING—DISCUSS, INVESTIGATE, AND DOCUMENT

Complete the following questions. Review the questions as an outline for a guided conversation investigating situational factors or concerns that suggest an increase in the risk of acted out aggression.

1. CONCERNS: Are others concerned about a potential for acting out aggressively (staff, faculty, students, etc.)?

Concerns may range from an odd discomfort to a complete list of reasons why caution should be taken. If violence is being considered or planned, it is difficult to hide the indicators. In fact, sometimes little care is actually taken to hide intentions, and while there may be little to no documentation of past behavioral issues, there may be several people who have been, or are, currently concerned.

Describe details of threat or dangerous situation and/or acted out behavior: ____

2. THREAT: Are there indications of a threat to a person, place, or organization? Please note the various threats listed below.

Threats can be direct, specific references, veiled threats, or vague warnings. What is the motive or violent intention? If threats are made but lack attack-related behaviors, motives, or a specific target(s) consistent with that threat, then risk decreases. Many threats that lack attack-related behavior are likely to be means of communicating dissatisfaction or anger, seeking attention, releasing stress, or affecting strength or power (bravado).

- Direct threat: straightforward, clear and explicit, (i.e. "I am going to put a bomb in the library"; "I'm going to kill you")
- Indirect threat: tentative or implied, (i.e. "If I wanted to, I could kill everyone in the financial aid office"; "I could make the psychology instructors disappear if I wanted to")
- Conditional threat: contingent on certain circumstances, usually contains the words "or" and "if". ("If I can't re-take my test, you will pay"; "You better approve my financial aid or you will die")
- Veiled threat: vague and subject to interpretation, sometimes having two meanings and can come across as a joke, (i.e. "The College would be a better place without you"; "I can see how something like Virginia Tech happened"; "You might not be at school tomorrow")

No	🛛 Yes	Unsure	Describe:

3. LEAKAGE: Are there indications of any "leakage" about a potential plan of attack (communication reveal- ing clues about planned attack, verbally or through social media or homework, etc.)?

Leakage can be in various forms revealing clues about planned attack through various third parties. This can be intentionally or unintentionally disclosing information of feelings, thoughts, fantasies, attitudes, or intentions that may signal an impending violent act. Examples of this might include: verbal communication (boasts, innuendos, and predictions), social media, homework, email, written

STEP 3: PRECAUTIONARY ACTIONS

UPON CONCERN OF THREAT OF TARGETED, TAKE IMMEDIATE PRECAUTIONARY STEPS TO PROTECT POTENTIAL VICTIMS AND TAKE FURTHER APPROPRIATE ACTIONS.

Precautionary steps... may include but are not limited to:

- 1. If risk is imminent or anyone is in immediate danger, call law enforcement (911).
- 2. Seek further assessment and advisement from Law Enforcement or Community Threat Assessment Team if you are:
- unable to confidently answer the questions on this instrument,
- not confident that your institution can supervise the situation safely, or
- 3. Notify the potential target(s) regarding your concerns and the actions you are initiating.
- 4. Document all communication. Consider outlining and documenting a safety plan for the targeted individual(s).
- 5. Consider all options available to inhibit or decrease the chances of violence.

Options may also include restricting access to target(s) or campus; however, it is important to remember that removing the person who poses a threat does not necessarily decrease the risk of violence. Therefore, since the use of suspension, expulsion, or trespassing, may actually increase risk, the resulting elevated risk should be factored into the assessment.

STEP 4 POTENTIAL INTERVENTIONS
(Check 🔲 if implemented):
College Options:
Increase supervision in following settings:
☐ Warn intended victim
Alert staff on need-to-know basis
Provide means for the individual to safely report and discuss thoughts or intentions to harm others and receive appropriate intervention.
